Astronomer James Gunn Receives Award from MacArthur Foundation

"It came right out of the blue," the astronomer said. Dr. James Gunn, who holds the Eugene Higgins astronomy chair at Princeton University, answered the telephone in his lab last Friday afternoon.

"This is the MacArthur Foundation," the telephone voice said, "I have some good news for you..."

The good news was a five-year MacArthur grant. Dr. Gunn declines to say how much his annual amount will be, but previous similar awards have been around $40,000 each year.

"I had absolutely no idea it was coming," Gunn said.

The John and Catherine MacArthur Foundation does not accept applications for its grants. Recipients are said to be chosen for creativity as well as accomplishments, and award winners have included artists, social workers and writers, as well as scientists and scholars.

A Texan with a degree from Rice in 1961, Dr. Gunn received his doctorate from the California Institute of Technology in 1965. He then joined the Cal Tech faculty, remaining there until coming to Princeton. He is about to start his fourth year at the University.

Colleagues say he is an unusual combination of theorist, observer and engineer. His fields are cosmology, the expanding universe, quasars, star clusters in the earth's galaxy.

Borough Sewer Ban Rescinded by State

The sewer ban imposed on Princeton in May by the state, has been lifted.

The Sewer Operating Committee secretary, George Olexa, received on Monday a letter from the Department of Environmental Protection announcing that the May 24 restrictions are "rescinded."

Mercury Stuck at 90°

Eight, at 90. Not a record, but who wants that kind of record? For eight straight days, the mercury has touched 90 degrees or above, starting with a good strong 94 on Tuesday, July 12. The peak was Friday, with 98 degrees. That night, there was a brief thunderstorm. Saturday and Monday were close, with highs of 97, and Saturday was particularly uncomfortable because of high humidity. Sunday was relatively pleasant, even at 94, because the humidity dropped.

The low, in those eight days, was last Wednesday, July 13, with 92. The next day, it went back up to 95.

Dry, too. In 18 July days, Princeton has had only a quarter-inch of rain, not counting the quick shower Tuesday afternoon.

Collins to Pay Borough $120,000 For Palmer Square Air Rights

Collins Development Corporation will pay the Borough $120,000 over a six-year period for the right to use the air over Palmer Square East.

Collins plans to use the space for a bridge connecting the present Nassau Inn and an addition to be built on the other side of the street. The Borough will retain title, and is only granting an easement. If Collins does not use the space for the purposes approved by the Planning Board, or abandons it, the Borough can reclaim.

The enabling ordinance has been scheduled for introduction this Wednesday at 5 in Borough Hall. Public hearing will be Thursday, August 4 at 8 p.m. during Council's August work session.

Under the agreement negotiated between Collins and the Borough, Collins will pay the $120,000 on a deferred-payment basis. There will be no payment the first year, which will start when the agreement is signed August 4.

At the start of the second year, in August of 1984, Collins will pay $5,000. Another $5,000 payment will be made at the start of the third year. At the beginning of the fourth and fifth years, Collins will pay $10,000 and at the sixth and final year, $90,000.

Interest, payable quarterly, will be 10 percent on the unpaid balance.

Last week, the Borough's appraiser, Joseph Martin, said a fair market value would be $63,000. He estimated the total indicated value at $90,000 — $30,000 less than the final, agreed-on figure.

should be explained that the problem will be corrected over a set period of time. If Princeton officials want to hold a public meeting on this problem, Mr. Schiffman said his department would participate. Mayor Cawley said such a meeting probably will be scheduled.

"They're telling us we are not out of conformity with the consent agreement — we've said that all along," Mayor Cawley commented.

The 1981 "consent agreement" with the state established a formula which allows Princeton to add sewage in relation to the amount of infiltrated water that is removed as sewers are repaired.

"The completion of the proposed scope of work should greatly improve surcharging and raw sewage overflow," Mr. Schiffman wrote, pointing out what the SOC had also pointed out: that completion of the work, as specified in a 1975 report, may not resolve the problem completely, because much water has flowed through Princeton's old sewers in the eight years since the report was completed.

"It is understood," said Mr. Schiffman, "that if problems persist after completion of the project, the communities and the SOC will continue to correct and alleviate these problems."

I have a great many projects, and I hope that with the money, I can buy time."

He also said he would probably spend some of the money on equipment, which is hard to come by and expensive.

Ordinance Regulating Home Alarm Systems Passed by Township after "War Briefing"

For a while there Monday night, Township Police still sounded more like a briefing room for a cadre of Pentagon war strategists.

They were exchanging terse statements about deterrents and heat sensors and motion detectors and high security, key-locked systems with panic buttons versus keyless, coded systems. At one point it all sounded like something out of the late '60s, as someone raised the spectre of hostile intruders masquerading as ordinary citizens, wearing pajamas as disguises.

You could almost hear some gruff sergeant bark out: "Those aren't our people. They're Viet Cong! Grease 'em!"

But this wasn't national security, it was home security, and the problem for Township Committee was how to formulate some sort of multilateral disarmament policy for the hundreds of home alarm systems deployed like Distant Early Warning lines around the perimeters of Township houses.

The result is a new ordinance governing home security systems, passed with one dissenting vote, that will subject homeowners to fines of $100 for every false alarm after six in any one-year period. All alarm systems have to be registered with the police and meet various standards. No one can have an automatic dialer that forwards an alarm directly to the police.

1,500 False Alarms a Year. Pointing out that in 1980 the Township Police responded to nearly 5,000 alarms—most of them false, Mayor Winthrop Pike reminded Committee residents that the Township had banned alarm systems connected directly to the police dispatcher in 1981. "We decided the burden of checking should be shifted to the alarm companies, not the police," he said. "Now the alarm goes to the company and they check with the subscriber. If the alarm seems bona fide, then they contact the police."

Expensive Retrofits? Despite all the hardships endured by the police, the troops out on the front lines in the battle against burglars and all other imagined interlopers were edgy.

Ken Paul of Pennington, who runs an alarm company, complained about the item in the ordinance requiring that alarm systems have automatic devices that shut them off after 15 minutes of screaming. "Many of the older systems don't meet these requirements—they don't have automatic shutoffs." A retrofit "can be expensive—just the automatic shutoff could cost $100."

Just like good military men, the alarm proponents concede that the systems are neither foolproof nor fail-safe, but at least they are a deterrent. Tom Fulmer of 674 Great Road drew a few chuckles when he said that he had had fewer than three false alarms in the two years since he installed his system—"except the first weekend when we disturbed an outdoor wedding" at a neighbor's house.

But, as the mayor continued, Township Police still receive about 120 false alarms a month, or 1,500 a year and the time needed to respond to each is estimated at 20 minutes to half an hour. "That's a lot of man hours," he said.

The need for some sort of regulation was emphasized by Police Lt. Jack Petrone, who pointed out that in 1980, of the 4,919 alarms sounded at Police Headquarters, only 22 turned out to be in response to true emergencies—burglars, prowlers, hold-ups, or fire.

Of the others, the lieutenant added, 2,963 were due to errors by the residents, 414 were attributed to unusual circumstances such as tradesmen working on power lines, 371 were due to weather and power outages, and 993 were caused by alarm company workers or subscribers checking out their systems and not bothering to notify police. "When you have so many false alarms, you can get nonchalant when responding, and that's the worst thing that can happen to a policeman."

Mr. Little was "furious" when he was called by his alarm company at four in the morning to confirm whether or not an alarm was real, and he was no happier on other occasions when police showed up in person to answer alarms. "When the police do come they ask me if everything's all right and then leave. What's to prevent someone from breaking in and putting on a pair of pajamas and pretending everything's all right?"

That question, presumably, will be pondered at conferences of home security analysts. In the meantime, Mr. Little's objections were countered by Committeeman William Cherry, who said, "Our policemen's attention and vigor are all tied up by these false alarms. You can't tie them up by pussy cats. Some burden rests on you, Mr. Little."

Dog Alert! Dog Alert! Lewis Kraft of 293 Ridgeview Road objected to an initial proposal that would have called for fines after three false alarms.

in one year. His system, he said, periodically goes off in the middle of the night for no known reason. Under questioning from Committee member Gail Firestone, he said he allowed the police to respond simply because he had no way of knowing whether the alarm was false or not.

"Without making any reference to Ken Paul," Mr. Kraft said, alluding to his alarm installer, "the most reliable source I have is my dog—he barks if someone comes in."

That drew a sympathetic smile from the Mayor. "I have the same kind of alarm system myself," he said. Mr. Pike pointed out that the false alarms are not counted in the first 60 days after installation of a new system, but he and the committee nevertheless decided to raise the limit to six in response to Mr. Kraft's concern.

Committee also modified the ordinance after a comment by Martin Mobach of 97 Hardy Drive. "Who determines whether it's a false alarm or a bona fide alarm?" he asked. "I submit that some procedure could be added to give citizens recourse to hash it over with the police."

Mr. Cherry supported that view and Mrs. Firestone eventually recommended a provision that police notify the alarm user after three false alarms. That motion—and then the entire ordinance—were carried by 3-1 votes, with Barbara Cantrill opposing.

Mayor Pike emphasized in the Borough, as in the Township, alarm systems officials intended to be "accommodating" in their enforcement of the ordinance, as the bugs were worked out, and that problems could be coped with by amendments, if necessary. Lt. Petrone said that enforcement of the ordinance would not even begin until 20 days after Monday's meeting.

One matter not fully resolved was how the police would notify the residents who pass the three false alarm level. Some police might prefer to sneak up in the middle of the night and open up the squad car siren. But, as matters stood Monday night, a polite phone call or post card would be sufficient.

—Richard K. Rein

ALARMS STILL RINGING

At Borough Police. Saying that "there is no easy answer to resolving the problem of false alarms," Borough Police Chief Michael Carnevale said that the Borough continues to have more than 200 alarms wired directly to police headquarters and that he sees no benefit from an ordinance regulating them.

"We've looked at the problem and decided that an ordinance would essentially set up a bureaucratic nightmare that does not solve the problems," Chief Carnevale said. "The best possible way to cope with the problem is to eliminate those people from the police alarm system, which is a privilege, if they are found to be negligent. We monitor the problem and if we get continued excessive alarms then we tell them to disconnect."

have been credited with causing relatively few arrests. "But we have had a number of arrests and that's significant. I'm a firm believer that professional burglars are aware of alarm systems and that in itself is a crime prevention plus."

He said that Borough Police have been burdened at times by people pushing panic buttons because they were afraid of someone's appearance. "That's an out and out abuse and it can't be tolerated. But it's not fair for conscientious homeowners and business persons to be removed from the alarm system because some people negligently activate their alarms."

FED A METER LATELY?
Illegal, You Know. Meter-feeding is like speeding: it's illegal, but almost everybody does it and not many are caught.

Meter-feeding means running out to push another coin into the parking meter when your time has almost run out. If you happen to be caught, the fine is $6. Meter-feeding does not mean putting in coins to bring a meter up to its maximum if you only put in ten minutes to start with—that's perfectly legal.

"Merchants have been urging us to get cracking on this problem," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley at his Monday press conference, announcing a meeting this Thursday at 5 with representatives of the Princeton Borough Merchants Association.

"There are pros and cons," the mayor added cryptically. At the moment, the ordinance against meter feeding is not really enforced.

"If you enforce it seriously," explained Police Commissioner Barbara Hill, "a lot of customers will be caught, and they'll be angry and maybe won't come to Princeton to shop any more and merchants will be unhappy."

"Everybody has worked out a bad situation as best they can," she continued. "If you disturb the ecology, you could set off a chain reaction we might all regret."

Also, if the ordinance is strictly enforced, the meter staff would not have time to do other things, like give tickets for overtime parking. It would not mean, Ms. Hill and Mayor Cawley emphasized, that police would be taken away from crime problems and assigned to parking meter duty. The police department's meter staff would be the only people affected.

The prohibition against meter-feeding was designed to provide turn-over of scarce parking spaces, the mayor pointed out.

He added that in his view, the merchants are not only unhappy about increases in parking rates, both new and projected, but are looking ahead to Collins' construction work and the inevitable parking problems it will cause.

In recent action, the Borough increased the one-hour parking fee from 20 to 30 cents. When the Park and Shop lot goes into operation next to the library, the fees will be 30 cents for the first hour, 30 cents for the second hour, 60 cents for the third and $1 for each hour after that. For quick trips, the first 20 minutes will be ten cents.

SUMMER JOBS? WELL...
A Start, Anyway. Five paying jobs and three non-paying jobs for unemployed teens may not sound like much of a summer, but it's eight jobs

Are You on TV?

On Monday, August 1, a program called "Reading Rainbow," for early readers, will be shown on Channels 13 and 52.

Several pupils at Community Park School participated in part of this program, and members of the Princeton Public Library staff expect that these boys and girls will be in the August 1 program. It will be on Channel 13 at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. It will also be on Channel 52 at 4 p.m., and the public library will turn on the television to show it at that time. In conjunction with "Reading Rainbow," the library will show a videotape made with the cooperation of Creative Theatre Unlimited.

that wouldn't have been there without Job Bound '83.

"We got started too late," admits Everard Pinneo, "but we did get it off the ground, and it's working well, and this means there will be more interest next year — and we'll start earlier."

Job Bound still has teens who want a job. If your firm has space, call Youth Employment Service, 924-5841 between nine and noon, weekdays.

So far, there is a girl working full-time in the ETS cafeteria "and doing very good work, we're told." Training House, in Princeton Junction, has a 19-year-old doing office work. She is handling computer assignments and "doing very good work."

A 15-year-old who would like to be a nurse, has just started a part-time job at Princeton Hospital. Two 19-year-olds are leaders at the Princeton Education Center, Blairstown. Mr. Pinneo is executive director of the Center.

The three unpaid workers are also at Blairstown. "Our main interest is to give them experience, the chance to learn responsibility, job skills and habits so they'll be more employable."

Job Bound '83 includes William Johnson, principal of the John Witherspoon Middle School; Michael Tomalin, assistant vice-president of Princeton Bank and a member of Princeton's school board and of Rotary; Hanneke Calmon, president of the Pinneo knows. "For example, Youth Employment Service banks used to hire kids in the board and Mr. Pinneo.

Mr. Johnson found the kids, year. We need lots more and sent them to YES to employers, and I hope we can register. YES has become, get them through Rotary. Apparently a requirement because the girl is only 15, Mr. Pinneo said.

Praising the co-operation of those who have hired teens, he gave ETS as an example. Originally, the job was at ETS' Ewing Township offices. But the girl had no way to get to Ewing, so ETS staff member James Wohlbeuter "found a way" to hire her for the cafeteria at ETS' Rosedale Road campus.

Similar N.Y.C. Program. Although Mr. Pinneo shrugs off credit for the program, he does say that he read of a similar New York City project had been and what he was do-and called a Citicorp vice-president whose name was mentioned in the news story. The man lives in East Windsor, came to Princeton to talk with Mr. Pinneo and gave helpful advice on how to proceed.

He tells about one of the 19-year-old leaders at Blirstown. A Princeton youth who had been to the Blirstown camp as a child, he had continued his contacts for a time through Princeton University's Community House.

One day, he encountered the director of Community House who asked where the youth had been and what he was doing. "Looking for a job" was the reply.

"Have your things ready by 5 this afternoon. You've got a job at Blirstown. We need them all one common characteristic: they were extinguished quickly.

"I'm tremendously pleased. Now, we can go to the community this fall, work with various firms through Rotary, and get started earlier for next year."

DIVERSE FIRES

Similar Results. Princeton firemen responded to fires in four different settings last week and managed to give them all one common characteristic: they were extinguished quickly.

The first fire was reported at about 5:15 p.m. last Tuesday, July 12, in a construction trailer parked at the sewer plant on River Road. Two trucks and 12 men responded to the blaze, which was believed to be caused by an electrical problem.

Damage was estimated at $2,000 and was limited to the exterior rear wall of the trailer, owned by the PKF Mark III construction company.

ed to be caused by an electrical problem.

Three fires broke out on Monday. At 11:40 a.m. Township Police responded to a car fire on Route 206 near Mary Watts' store. The operator of the car was Waltrand Stellwag of Flemington.

At 8:30 p.m. a fire was reported in a combine which had been parked in a field off Rosedale Road in anticipation of being put to work the next day. The blaze was extinguished quickly and was apparently set off by debris touching the overheated engine. The owner is Joseph Ruggieri of Washington Street, Hopewell.

Borough police were summoned to a Jefferson Road residence at 10:20 p.m. and found the homeowner in a smoke-filled kitchen, attempting to douse a stove fire with pitchers of water.

Sgt. William Fitch put in a general alarm and physically removed the owner from the premises. The firemen Windsor juvenile theorized that the fire began in found such machines extreme-some newspapers placed near the stove. Damage was confined to the kitchen.

MISCHIEF REPORTED
Some Caught, Some Escape. Township police reported that someone tore four emergency phones out of their places in the elevators in the Magie and Hibben apartments on the University campus. They are valued at $150.

In the Borough a Suburban Transit Bus driver reported that someone had kicked in a window of the bus early in the morning last Wednesday, July 13. Police observed someone matching the description walking down Witherspoon Street. When the suspect was stopped he claimed he was a juvenile. Sam Jimenez Jr., 18, of New Brunswick, was charged with malicious mischief and hindering the prosecution.

Borough police also investigated another tire slashing on Prospect Avenue—this one reported last Friday. No arrest was made.

EASY ACCESS MONEY
Too Easy for Juvenile. The banks advertised their automatic money dispensers.

A John Street resident left a bicycle valued at $100 parked in a side yard overnight last found such machines extremely convenient as she withdrew about $1,000 from the First National Bank using a card she did not own.

The juvenile was charged with theft by deception following an investigation by police in the Borough and West Windsor Township. The illicit withdrawals were made at locations in both municipalities.

A shopper at the SuperFresh market in the Princeton Shopping Center was the victim of a more blatant deception. The shopper was at the checkout counter at the market at about 3:15 Monday afternoon when another woman who appeared to be a shopper asked to have a pack of razors passed to her. The first woman, whose purse was open on the counter, obliged. A short time later she discovered that her wallet, valued at $52 and containing $101 in cash, was missing. Police were seeking a black female.

Cash and Coins. An employee of the Institute for Advanced Study left her wallet at her desk for 15 minutes last Thursday, July 14, and returned to find $60 in cash removed.

Saturday and awoke Sunday morning to discover it gone. A Westcott Road resident reported last Friday the theft of a rare coin collection from a desk located on the second floor of the house. The collection was valued at $1,648. Police reported no sign of forced entry into the house.

WHO DONE IT?

Assault investigation. Township Police were investigating the report of an apprehended 24-year-old assault that occurred just before midnight last Tuesday, July 12, in the northeast corner of the Princeton Battlefield Park.

Police said that David J. McAllister, 17, of 9 Lytle Street, reported that he was in the park looking for a hubcap that had popped off his car when he was struck in the face, knocked to the ground, and kicked in the ribs by an assailant he never saw clearly.

The victim was treated at the Medical Center for bruises and cuts and complaints of pain in the rib area.

SPEEDING COSTLY

For Trenton Man, Borough Police maintaining a radar watch on Route 206 for possible speeders Monday evening apprehended a 24-year-old man for going 44 miles an hour in a 25 zone.

A look-up of his license showed that the man, Errol Barnaby, was already wanted in New Brunswick for contempt of court for failure to appear for a motor vehicle violation. He was unable to post bond and was turned over to New Brunswick police.

Accidentally, grew up in the John-Witherspoon neighborhood.

The Borough must hire a director, probably at the recommended salary of $14,000 a year. This director will then make three surveys: a "windshield" survey showing the overall condition of the neighborhood; a survey of the roads, sewers, sidewalks and other parts of the infrastructure; and finally, a house-to-house survey, interviewing owners or tenants. "These surveys tell us the condition of the neighborhood, who lives there and what their needs are," Mr. Zuhlicke explained.

The Witherspoon-Jackson Development Corporation will implement the grant, will be responsible for making applications from people who want to be director, for meeting with residents and doing the legwork, Mr. Zuhlicke said.

He added that the director might well be a resident of the neighborhood. "It's a 'people' program," he remarked. "You need someone with the ability to deal with people and allay their suspicions."

What Will Be Done? Exactly what will be done with the $85,000 has not yet been decided. It's possible, for example, that a home-owner might get a home-improvement loan whose interest rate would be subsidized by the Borough, so that it would be around six percent, instead of the prevailing 12 or 15 percent.

Mr. Zuhlicke said lending institutions have indicated that they would be willing. Will landlords be included? This will be up to the Borough and Witherspoon-Jackson. Mr. Zuhlicke suggested that, if the surveys show a high percentage of absentee landlords, a "small incentive might induce them to spruce things up."

Commercial buildings and stores definitely qualify, said Council member Richard Woodbridge.

The state requires municipalities to contribute whatever they can — no dollar amount specified. In the Borough's case, this "non-state share" might be employees' time, work on sewers or streets, office space and supplies or telephones.

Mr. Woodbridge said this week that he endorses as "an excellent idea" the suggestion of colleague Robert McChesney that the Borough prepare an overall housing plan for the whole town.

The Councilman added that he would like to ask the Township to share the director's salary, and perhaps join in a community development program. Most of the Township's black residents also live in the John Witherspoon area, separated only by the invisible municipal line.

It was Mr. Woodbridge who convinced Council that it should hire Charles Nathanson, the professional grantsman who prepared the winning Borough application. The next step, he said, is a meeting of Council members and Witherspoon-Jackson representatives to decide the kind of person they want as director. Mr. Zuhlicke said he will be back in Princeton for another meeting next week. Katharine H. Brettnall

CYCLISTS COMING
Riding for Peace. Area residents who want to feel a part of an international peace keeping mission can hop on their bikes on Monday, August 1, and pedal out to the Kingston end of Lake Carnegie on Route 27. There, at about 6 p.m., if all goes according to schedule, they will find a group of 12 Russians, 11 Scandinavians, and at least nine Americans who have been biking from Moscow to Oslo to promote international peace.

The group is going to fly from Oslo to Kennedy Airport, and then pedal its way past the Statue of Liberty, through Princeton, and then on to the Liberty Bell and Washington, D.C.

In Princeton, the cyclists will proceed down Nassau Street to Palmer Square, be greeted by the mayors of Borough and Township, and then treated to supper at the Nassau Presbyterian Church. At 8 p.m. they will return to Palmer Square for music and reports from representatives of each country on the trip and its purpose.

The group will have breakfast the following morning at Peace Hall at Trinity Church, and then head off for Washington Crossing enroute to Philadelphia.

Additional cyclists are invited to join the official group on that leg of the journey. Those who want to ride into Princeton with the peace cyclists should gather at 5:30 at the end of Lake Carnegie. Those who want to ride out of town with them should be at Trinity Church by 9 a.m. the next morning, August 2.

Volunteers are still needed to help with the supper. For information call 452-3018 or 924-2277.

The year's program ended June 30. Figures show 30,625 gifts from alumni, parents and friends of the University. About 57 percent of the alumni made contributions. This is a two percent increase over last year, and one of the highest participation rates for annual fund drives among colleges and universities, according to Joseph L. Bolster Jr., director of annual giving for Princeton.

The Class of 1958, celebrating its 25th reunion this year, is the first class to exceed $2 million in contributions. For the first time, three classes — 1933, 1953 and 1958 — raised more than $1 million each.

Six other classes celebrating major five-year reunions — 1918, 1928, 1948, 1963, 1968 and 1978 — set records, and 15 classes who did not celebrate major reunions this year, raised more than $100,000 each.

Corporate matching gifts exceeded $1 million for the second consecutive year for a total of $1.4 million. This, also, is a record.

"Annual Giving," which began in 1940, is the University's yearly effort at raising unrestricted funds. The $12.4 million raised this year, is a record.

BUSINESSES ENLISTED
To Help Watershed Group. William O'Brien, director of administration and engineering of the FMC Corporation's Princeton facility, has been named first chairman of an annual business membership campaign to benefit the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association.

"I volunteered to play an active role in this business membership recruitment because now more than ever we need environmental advocates," who are well-informed," said Mr. O'Brien. "We need an organization advocating the environmental quality of our streams and ground water, an organization which can identify flood control problems and make constructive suggestions for solutions, and an organization which can work effectively with various state and local agencies in support of rational programs and regulations through the Institute woods, addressing water quality and flood control issues."

The Stony Brook-Millstone and the D&R Canal park are founded in 1951, covers a 285-square-mile region, including 26 municipalities in five counties in New Jersey.

The business community has traditionally contributed to this membership organization. "It is our attempt, however," said Mr. O'Brien, "to reach out to more enterprises and inform them of the service the association provides."

Commodities Corp., a Princeton-based firm, this year has increased its financial support of the Association by 300 percent, but space is limited to 20 for McGraw Hill. Western should call 924-3260 evenings. Electric, the First National Guides for the walks are Jose Bank of Princeton, RCA, and Garcia, Warren Elmer and the New Jersey Bell System. Sue Allen.

"The issues of today have increased 500-fold, and requests from businesses as well as individual residents seeking answers to questions ranging from a backyard drainage problem to construction of large complexes to Municipal Planning Boards are addressed daily," said Peter M. O'Neill, a Princeton attorney and chairman of the Board of the Watersheds Association. "It is our commitment to our membership and the community of the Stony Brook-Millstone area to follow through on each and every appeal."

The Watersheds Association welcomes visitors to its 535-acre reserve in Pennington. Nature trails, wildflower gardens, a summer program for children, and birding among the services open to the general public. At present guided nature walks are conducted Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 1 p.m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9 a.m.

Anyone wishing to support this Association and its business membership campaign can send their support to the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, RD which can identify flood 1, Box 263-A, Titus Mill Road, Pennington, or call 609-737-3735.

NATURE WALKS SET
Beginning Saturday. Four agencies in support of rational programs and regulations through the Institute woods, addressing water quality and flood control issues."

Sponsored by the Sierra Club, the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, and Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, the three-hour walks will begin at the refuge parking area off Alexander Road in Princeton at 8 a.m. this Saturday and next Saturday, July 30, and Sunday, August 7 and 14.

Each walk will highlight natural and human history at all four sites, with special focus on plants and trees, birds, ecology, and Princeton's past and future.

Participation is open to all, but space is limited to 20 for McGraw Hill. Western should call 924-3260 evenings. Electric, the First National Guides for the walks are Jose Bank of Princeton, RCA, and Garcia, Warren Elmer and the New Jersey Bell System. Sue Allen.

PHYSICIAN TO SPEAK

On Genetic Engineering. Dr. Alexander Bearn, senior vice president for medical and scientific affairs at Merck, Sharp and Dohme International, will speak on "The Perils and Promise of Genetic Engineering: a Medical Perspective" at 8 p.m. Monday in Kresge Auditorium on the Princeton University campus. Dr. Bearn is the third lecturer in the series "Essays in Science: Risk and Reward" sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and the Princeton University Department of Chemistry.

Dr. Bearn, formerly physician-in-chief at New York Hospital and a professor at Cornell University Medical College and Rockefeller University, has served as an advisor on genetic engineering to a variety of public and private organizations.

In previous talks on this theme Dr. Bearn has sought to put genetic engineering into perspective. Although he predicts genetic engineering will produce new vaccines and chemicals and lead to increased crop yields, he cautions that the real peril in genetic engineering may be promising the public too much. At the conclusion of Dr. Bearn's remarks, there will be an open discussion period.

ALL HANDS ON DECK!
Carrier Remission Planned.
Homer D. Jones, a Princeton resident who served in World War II aboard the aircraft carrier USS Wasp, has fond memories of his days at sea that his license plate reads "CV WASP." CV is the Navy's designation for an aircraft carrier.

Thanks to his license plate he has run into others who served aboard the carrier, which earned 10 battle stars during the war.

Now Mr. Jones, who works as a development adviser to church-related colleges, hopes to round up as many sailors (and aviators—there's a difference, of course) as he can who served aboard the Wasp for a reunion at his home at 188 Carter Road.

Mr. Jones said that the reunion is for the hands from the second Wasp carrier, which Harrison Street for Trucks.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
If the Harrison Street bridge over Carnegie Lake is to be rebuilt and widened, consideration should be given to making it strong enough to carry all the gigantic trucks which have so much difficulty turning at the corner of Harrison and Nassau.

I believe the street light pillar has been knocked over three times, endangering passers by and cars. It happened again last week. It was decades ago that President Goheen suggested the Harrison Street route to relieve traffic which now goes by the campus to reach Route 1 via 206. This would be an enormous relief to all the residents of the area and to the traffic on Nassau Street which is overwhelming already.

Since the big old tree is gone from the Gourmet Shop, perhaps this dangerous corner could be widened until a bridge of the required strength could be built.

A Quiet Space.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Palmer Square is a comparatively quiet space, a "village green," you might say, that many people have enjoyed, despite the ever present problems that remain underneath, as proof that real concern for the people is not uppermost in the "power circles."

Yes, there will always be people who don't really care, though they pay through their noses daily, and wonder why. The fact remains that this munity Park North area "little" town between New York City and Philadelphia, the one really green spot in the megalopolis, will continue to grow during the coming century (unless blotted out by some "Pershing Peace" type missile).

The one best hope that the concerned citizens have to keep it green, quiet and peaceful is someone like Emma Epps who will come along, with enough courage, to convince this town that there should be a new group whose sole purpose is to be more aware of what is really going on, and who will stand up for concerned citizens - so that their wishes will no longer be ignored.

Can you imagine what would have happened if the 1,500 (plus) people who actually signed the petitions against the cluttering of Palmer Square, (with bulky bridge, etc. etc.) had actually come to one or two meetings of the two town planning boards, and spoken their minds freely (in democratic fashion) while signing?

There will be another mayoral election in November. It is up to us to be there to vote. But it is also up to us to be sure where these candidates stand on the issues of town growth, because it is they, the mayors, who will appoint people to fill vacancies on future planning boards.

Betty Koehler, executive director of Crawford House and its co-founder, notes that many residents are unskilled and have difficulty finding an affordable place to live. This prolongs their stay at Crawford House and extends the wait for admission, which is approximately six weeks.

To alleviate the problem, Crawford House plans to establish a "re-entry" home for eight to 10 recovered women alcoholics to share on a rental basis while they re-establish their lives after leaving Crawford House. The home will open this fall in a location in Mercer County, Mrs. Koehler said.

"This home will meet a critical need for all women today — finding decent, affordable housing on a limited budget," Mrs. Koehler said. "It is impossible to live in an apartment that costs $350 a month when your average take-home pay is $120 a week."

Funds from the Great Outdoor Sale will go towards establishing the re-entry home and for equipment and program needs at Crawford House. The average cost per resident is $32 a day. This year, the operating budget is $165,000, with $131,000 of it funded by the state of New Jersey and $5,000 from the United Way - Princeton Area Communities. Somerset and Middlesex Counties each contribute small grants, with the remainder coming from

Mrs. Koehler noted that the new home eventually will be self-supporting, generating enough income from rental fees to cover expenses. The purchase will be funded through a donation from an anonymous benefactor, she said. Guidance and support for residents will be provided by a permanent house-mother on the premises, Mrs. Koehler added.

More than 30 volunteers chaired by Mrs. Jeanne Armiger of Princeton, treasurer of Crawford House, have been working since March to coordinate the Great Outdoor Sale. The event also will include fresh produce at a farmer's market, baked goods and refreshments. More volunteers are needed to assist with the effort and donations of sale items also are being accepted. For more information about delivering donations or volunteering, call 924-4975 in Princeton; 201-359-2027 in Hillsborough; 201-249-0851 in Somerset; or 201-359-6579 in Skillman.

Any woman who is a resident of New Jersey may apply for admission to Crawford House. She must have completed an acceptable program of detoxification and rehabilitation for her application to be considered. Preference is given to women from Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset Counties.

Air Rights

The ordinance includes a recognition of the Planning Board's approval of the bridge from a planning point of view. It also states that Collins will be liable, in case of injuries. In addition, it sets forth the ways in which the Borough believes it is complying with state law in granting the air rights.

"The state's legislative intent is clear and well spelled out," Mayor Cawley told reporters. He cited the comments of former Governor William Cahill in regard to the enabling legislation and said "Cahill wanted to state specifically that air rights were one of the things a town could dispose of."

Referring to comments by critics who protest that the Borough could give air rights over parks, other streets or even cemeteries, Mayor Cawley said:

"I cannot imagine in my wildest dreams the Planning Board saying a building over a cemetery or a park is good planning. The Collins bridge is unique, for both the developer and the town."

"I agree with (Planning Board member) Rick Henkel, who said the bridge is good as a 'breaker' for the two building facades. I think it's going to be neat: hotel rooms, and a substantial structure are far superior to a glass bridge and no rooms. That would have been crummy."

This Thursday, at its 7:30 p.m. work session, the Planning Board is scheduled to adopt the findings of fact related to its approval of the Inn addition and bridge. After that adoption and its publication, anyone who wants to take legal action against the decision has ten days to file an appeal.

CRAFT COMPETITION
Set in Trenton, Craftspeople from throughout New Jersey and from counties in New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware that border New Jersey are invited to compete in the first Juried New Jersey State Craft Competition on Sunday, September 11, from noon to 5 p.m. in Trenton.

The competition will be part of the Sixth Annual State Street Stroll. Crafters will be able to set up in front of the State House, at the State Museum, at the Old Barracks, at the Masonic Temple and down the middle of State Street. Special awards will be given crafters who are at work during the competition.

The State Street Stroll, which each year is enjoyed by more than 20,000 people, features tours of historic buildings in the State House Historic District, including the entire State House complex, bands, dancing, good food served by Trenton's churches and civic organizations and this year, a salute to the New Jersey legislature which is meeting in its 200th session.

Troops in colonial uniforms drill at the Old Barracks, military bands play, costumed ladies and gentlemen compete in a croquet round robin and amazing Trenton youngsters dazzle in double-dutch rope jumping. For the second successive year the State Library and the State Historical Commission will sponsor a book fair as part of the Stroll.

Deadline for entries by crafters is July 31. Application forms and information may be obtained by writing New Jersey State Craft Competition, The Contemporary, 176 West State Street, Trenton, N.J. 08608 or by calling 609-292-6270.

160-SEAT RESTAURANT
Stouffer Signs Lease. The Stouffer-owned Cheese Cellar has signed a lease with Collins Development to open a 160-seat restaurant and bar in the street-level space on the north side of the One Palmer Square building, facing down Palmer Square East. The space is currently being remodeled for the Cellar.

Scheduled to open the first of next year, the Cheese Cellar will have a menu offering seven fondues — including a dessert chocolate fondue — soups, sandwiches, cheese and sausage boards, and wines available by the glass.

Swiss raclette — the cheese specialty dish — and chicken, veal and seafood entrees will also be on the menu. A "Look of Lean" group will offer selections with fewer than 390 calories.

At Sunday brunch, the Cheese Cellar will have omelette, waffle and raclette stations, allowing guests to construct their own brunches.

The decor will recreate a European wine cellar, with brick and stucco walls, arched passageways and dark woods. Stouffer has purchased the liquor license that formerly belonged to Rosso's Cafe on Spring Street, later bought by Joseph Parvin's "University Forums." Before the restaurant's opening, Stouffer must apply to Borough Council for permission to transfer the license from the former owner to the new owner, and the former place to the new location.

BANK EARNINGS RISE

At N.J. National, New Jersey National Corporation has announced that earnings for the second quarter of 1983 increased 18 percent over the same period last year. Increases in consumer and commercial loans, spurred by growing confidence in the recovering economy, were key factors in the good results, said Chairman of the Board John H. Walther. The corporation also held increases in operating expenses to less than two percent.

"The first six months of this year tested our ability to grow in an environment marked by deregulation in our industry. We're proud of our performance," said Mr. Walther. "We're also excited by the after securities transactions benefits deregulation offers was $5.7 million or 85 cents per consumer. Our newly share for the second quarter of

In commenting on the company's other activities during the quarter, Mr. Haggerty noted that United Jersey became the second bank holding company in the country to receive approval from the Federal Reserve for its acquisition of a discount broker, Richard Blackman and Co., Inc. "This acquisition gives us a major advantage because it broadens our range of services while increasing our fee income," he said. Deposits at June 30, 1983, totaled $2.9 billion, compared with $2.2 billion reported at June 30, 1982. Total loans were $1.7 billion at June 30, 1983, compared with $1.6 billion reported a year ago. 4,343 Disasters in 10 Months

Hurricane in Hawaii ...
Mud-slides in Utah, Nevada ...
Earthquake in California ...
Tornado in Texas ...
Floods and tornadoes in Mississippi, Illinois, Arkansas, Missouri, Alabama, Louisiana ...
Storms on the West Coast ...

Yes, it's true: within a space and time of only ten months, there were 4,343 disasters in the United States.

Grimly, the American Red Cross has counted them all. Compassionately, the American Red Cross has been there, in the midst of them all. Cost: $33 million.

Now, the Red Cross itself needs help — the kind of generous help from you, that the Red Cross usually gives itself. Goal: $12 million.

You take it for granted, when you glance at some account of disaster, that the Red Cross is there. Temporary shelters, clothing, food, medicines ... of course.

You may forget that it costs money, you may not realize that the Red Cross is not an agency of the national government.

You may not realize that the medicine chest and the cupboard are almost bare.

Make out your check (tax-deductible, of course) to: American Red Cross. Note on the check that your contribution is for the Emergency Disaster Fund Campaign.

Mail it to the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, 182 North Harrison Street, Princeton, N.J., 08540.

Floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, earthquakes, mud slides and fires have devastated our country these past ten months. American Red Cross volunteers have helped more than a million people with emergency food, shelter and clothing. This people helping program has cost millions and Red Cross Disaster funds are now exhausted. Please send a check to your Red Cross Emergency Disaster Relief fund today.

PLANTING IN DAMP
WET AREAS
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds
Associates

We often receive calls from our readers who want information about what is best to plant in soggy, wet areas. Here are a few thoughts on problem areas and what you might consider planting. Remember also, that if you change the normal drainage pattern of your property you may have such an area. The inundation of water in a certain area will eventually deprive the roots of oxygen. Low-lying areas are poor sites for the planting of White Pine, Hemlock, Paper Birch, Red Cedar, White Spruce and Sugar Maple. Trees that are relatively tolerant to occasional flooding and can be planted in wet damp sites are: Ash, Black Gum, Elm, Red Maple, Silver Maple, Sweetgum, Sycamore, White Cedar and Willows. No tree species is known to endure prolonged replacement of soil oxygen by water. If you have any concerns about your trees and shrubs, please give WOODWINDS (924-4350) a call. We'll be happy to help.

FIRESTONE SELLS JEFFERSON ROAD!

Have you noticed the "For Sale" signs in the Jefferson Road area of Princeton this Spring?

Firestone Real Estate is proud to announce that we sold 5 out of the 7 homes sold this year on or bordering on Jefferson Road. But you didn't see a Firestone "SOLD" sign on these and many other properties sold by Firestone because it is not customary for the selling broker to put a "SOLD" sign on a house listed by another firm.

If you are looking for a real estate firm that knows how to sell Princeton houses, you owe it to yourself to let us tell you why we are one of Princeton's best selling firms. We have exciting track records for providing buyers all over the Princeton area, including outstanding numbers of sales in the Western Section, Riverside and Shadybrook.

Talk with us if you have a house that you are thinking of selling and we will show you our superb marketing programs and tell you about some of the qualified buyers we are already working with for your area.

Now you know a little more about why we call Firestone THE INTELLIGENT CHOICE in Princeton Area Real Estate. After all, look what we did on Jefferson Road!

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY EXTRAORDINAIRE!

Are you looking for a more challenging job, with more personal reward, in a small organization where stimulation, warmth, appreciation and the chance to be creative might substitute for an impressive benefits package and a fat paycheck?

Our business is education and publishing in the arts. We need an experienced executive secretary without illusions of grandeur. Skills are important but who you are matters most.

We're looking for a cultivated voice on the telephone; a lively, intelligent face behind the desk; a warm personality to whom children, parents and our well-educated clients will be drawn; integrity, openness, flexibility and a terrific sense of humor! There is plenty of hard work, constant variety and endless interruptions. For example, can you comfort a sick child, soothe an irate parent, calm a nervous artist, deal with an overdue bill and make the delinquent like you - all at the same time?

As to skills, we need speed typing (accurate and neat), dictaphone, copy-machine and some bookkeeping. Do you like to lay out copy, organize files, design systems? You'll take our letters, but we'd be delighted if you could draft them for us, correct our spelling, even edit our copy. Writing skills, advertising or marketing experience, a background in teaching would all be interesting pluses, none essential.

If this sounds like your job please send us a resume, references and a one-page typed statement as to why you might be what we're looking for. We don't care whether you're male or female, young or old (we're all of these). You can be re-entering the job market or currently employed. We think you're out there, and there may be just one of you. Please let us hear from you fast at Box U-49, c/o Town Topics, P.O. Box 664/4 Mercer St., Princeton, N.J. 08540.

Princeton in Summer Offers a Multitude of Activities: Everything from Concerts to Lacrosse to Shakespeare

The sounds of summer ... not just the beat of a Summer Sounds band, but the gentle splash of an elderly arthritic exercising in the pool ... the squeals of suspense as winners in the Day Camp costume contest are announced ... the fast thud of a basketball on the night-lit court ... the whisper of a turned page in the cool of the library ...

Summer is half over. There is so much to do in Princeton that it would take a summer-and-a-half to do it all.

This Thursday: the Castle Browne band in the Community Park North amphitheatre at 7:30.

This Friday and Saturday: Shakespeare's "The Tempest" in the same amphitheatre at 3:30 and 7 both days.

Next Monday: John Counts' story-telling time at the library for five-to-eight-year-olds, 7:30 and wear your pajamas.

Next Tuesday: "Crazy Hat" day for Day Campers.

Next Wednesday: "Be a Puppet" at the library, if you're in grades four through six, at 3 p.m.

... and lacrosse, wrestling, art projects, learn-to-swim, theatre, trips to Cape Cod or Sesame Place ... and even water polo.

"The pool is churning!" exclaims Kathy Clarkson in happy dismay. She can almost hear the splashing shouts from her office window in the Recreation Department.

Saturdays from 10 to 11, Ann Blanc gives Spashercise — stretching those shoulder muscles, walking-jogging in the water, using the kickboard. Some of the 13 in the class are arthritic, others are handicapped. It's a way, Ms. Clarkson says quietly, of drawing people out who might otherwise just stay at home. Quite different from Saturday morning water polo in the diving well right next door.

If you're 62 or over, you're invited to do your laps from 10 to noon, before the crowds gather. But competitive swim-time is in the morning, too, so as you do your leisurely side-stroke up and back, you're flanked by furiously competitive six-to-17-year-olds — probably doing three laps to your one.

The Senior Dip is 11 to noon. No need to do laps. Just paddle around and have fun in the pool section set aside for you. Set aside, because kids five about Halloween in July, years and up, are learning to swim in another part of the water, and children from the Eden Institute come from 11 to noon, also.

Although it's after mid-July,

SUMMERTIME 'TEMPEST': They've built their own enchanted isle, dyed the fabric to make the tempest-tost sea, composed their own heavenly music and now, this week-end, the 35 kids in McCarter's Shakespeare Summer will present "The Tempest" in the Community Park North Amphitheatre. Here are Dan Studney and Kieran Williams — both of whom are back again after last year's Shakespeare Summer — with founder-director Veronica Brady.

people are still buying season tickets to the pool. Hurry, hurry: the pool's last day is Labor Day.

2nd Summer for Day Camp. It's the second summer for the Recreation Department's Day Camp — more structured, under Ms. Clarkson's direction, than the old Playground program used to be.

This year, 135 boys and girls, grades one through six, gather every morning at 9 around the tables on the shady edge of the Valley Road playing fields. They stay until 3, and many of them with working parents remain until 5 for After-Camp.

Tuition is $45 for the first child in a family and $40 for each additional child (extra for After-Camp) for the six weeks of the program.

"We could have had 175 kids — I'm still getting calls from parents," Ms. Clarkson says, as she looks over her list. "It's a good program and we almost break even."

Like Princeton, Day Camp is a mix. About half the campers are black, half white. They speak Portuguese, Spanish, Italian, French, Chinese.

With the nine counselors, the kids play games and sports, do arts and crafts, lunch at the pool during their 90-minute swim time every day, and look forward to a weekly special event.

All the world now knows about the Big Bubble Gum contest. But did you know when Anna Studebaker, dressed as a bunch of purple grapes, won first prize in the costume contest?

News Of The THEATRES

'FIDDLER' IN THE PARK
Next Weekend, The Princeton Community Players climaxes its 50th theater season with a major production of Fiddler on the Roof, to be presented at the Open Air Theatre of Washington Crossing State Park, N.J., July 21, 22, 23, 27, 28, 29 and 30. Curtain time is 8:30, and rain dates will be July 24 and July 31.

Under the direction of Lew Gantwerk, 50 actors, singers and dancers has been assembled to perform this award-winning musical. The age-old struggle between tradition and change continues to be a timely topic.

Allen Salkin plays Tevye, the dairyman; Sue Stember appears as Golde, Tevye's wife; and Harriet Cogan is Yente, the matchmaker. The daughters are played by Heidi Gantwerk, Katie Ford, Kim Williamson, Heather Hunt and Rebecca Gantwerk. Also featured will be Jan Applebaum, Peter Kauzman and Ed Stout.

Produced by Gus Mosso, the production's music will be directed by Russ Hoffman, who will also conduct the orchestra. Jana Feinmann is the choreographer, Maria DeVinck is set designer, and Denise Drace is costume designer.

HALFWAY, WITH 'TESS'
Films at Mid-Season. A long single feature, Roman Polanski's "Tess," has been chosen to mark the mid-point of Summer Cinema '83. But there is also a short, "In a Rehearsal Room," featuring two dancers from the American Ballet Theatre.

"Tess" is being screened, like all the other films in Summer Cinema, in Kresge Auditorium of the Frick Chemical Building, Washington Road. Show time is 7:30. The bill will play through this Sunday.

Polanski's adaptation of Thomas Hardy's "Tess of the d'Urbervilles" stars Nastassia Kinski in her screen debut, and focuses on the love triangle involving Tess, the cousin (played by Leigh Lawson) who rapes her when she is 16 and whose child she bears, and Angel Claire (played by Peter Firth), the man she really loves.

"In a Rehearsal Room" shows dancers Cynthia Gregory and Ivan Nagy performing to the music of the Pachelbel Canon.

CASTLE BROWNE

'FALSETTOS'
NewStage's Next, "March of the Falsettos", billed as "a contemporary American musical," is the next in NewStage's 1983 series at Murray Theatre on the University campus.

It will open this Thursday and will play through July 31. Curtain-time is 8 p.m. and 2:30 for the Sunday matinee.

The story tells about Marvin, who leaves his wife and young son for another lover and another life-style, but who still wants the love and attention of an understanding and forgiving family. The entire musical is sung, and there is a wide range of musical styles.

Meanwhile, "New Mondays," the series of play readings, will continue next Monday at Murray Theatre with "Crowd Noises," a series of short monologues by Princeton playwright Larry Harris, and "Slices: A Serious Evening of Comedy" by Barbara Hobart, formerly with Chicago's Second City.

Play readings are free. Reservations for "March of the Falsettos" may be made by calling 452-8161.

FUN AT 'THE FORUM'
At Dinner Theatre, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is the first offering of the Olde Towne Theatre Company at the new Tigers Dinner Theatre, Princeton-Hightstown Road and Route 130 (formerly the Old York Inn).

The restaurant, under new management since March, has created a dinner theater offering professional productions in a casual atmosphere.

Performances of "Forum" are scheduled for July 29-31, August 4-7, and August 12-14. Dinner starts at 6:30 and the musical begins at 8:15. Admission is $19.95 and includes dinner with a choice of entree, tax, tip and show. For information and reservations call 448-5880.

CON MAN AT WORK
On Stage. "...and one man in his time plays many parts." That's Jerry Rockwell, who will take the parts of con men and hustlers in his one-man show, "Three Card Monte," which will play the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival in Madison next Monday at 8. He'll be the smooth-talker who talked Al Capone out of $500, and the man who sold the Eiffel Tower. The Festival says his performance is "unusual entertainment for all ages."

Reservations may be made at 201-377-4487.

INCREDIBLE! SPECIAL PURCHASE ICELANDIC SHEARLINGS

For Women Sizes 6-18, Men Size 40 only.

An incredible special purchase of samples and prototypes from Samband of Iceland's shearing line. Many one-of-a-kind. Over 125 coats and jackets, in assorted styles, sizes and colors. If we have a shearing to fit you, it will be the buy of a lifetime.

Icelandic Shearlings, the most luxurious shearlings in the world...with skins so supple they can be tailored like cloth. The natural shearing skin outside and wool fleece inside will continually embrace you in warmth.

The remarkable properties of Icelandic sheepskins result from the superb weather protection they receive from the unusually dense wool coat. Because they are so well insulated, Icelandic shearing skins do not become thick or tough as do the skins of other sheep. They are very lightweight, pliable, durable and sensuous.

Each shearing is vat dyed prior to hand fabrication rather than surface dyed after the garment is completed. This effective dyeing process prevents spotting and staining from rain and snow. Then the most pliable skins are selected for the arms where the most flexibility is required and the most durable skins for the back and shoulders to ensure a lifetime of wear. The skins are then cut, edges shaved and sections sewn together by one person who has responsibility for the perfection of the finished product. Come in and try one on! Originally $95⁰⁰ to $950⁰⁰

Try-outs for 'Kale'

"Kiss Me Kate" is the annual musical of the Franklin Community Players, and the company has scheduled auditions for this Sunday in the Grand Ballroom of the Somerset Travelodge, Easton Avenue. Audition time is 7 to 10 p.m.

Performances will be October 21 through November 13, and rehearsals will start in mid-August.

After the first auditions on Sunday, the remaining try-outs will be held in Franklin High School, Somerset, July 15 and August 1 and 2.

All roles are open, and adults of all ages are welcome to try out. If you are interested, you are asked to prepare one song — which does not have to be a "Kiss Me Kate" song — and be ready to do a light dance audition and read from a script. Robert Thick is directing.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Bill Grippo, 201-545-4229 or Ellen Jaffe, 201-993-8156.

Auditions are by appointment only and may be scheduled by calling 609-394-7514.

"Man of La Mancha" will be presented in Trenton's War Memorial Auditorium on Sunday, September 25, at 3. After opening in Trenton it will travel to the Monmouth Arts Center in Red Bank for four additional performances. Rehearsals will begin in early August. Stage direction will be by K. Eric Metz, with Mr. Anzuini providing the musical direction.
Singers should be prepared to perform a selection from the show, or a suitable selection from a similar source. A short dance combination will be taught at the audition.

See if you can name this unusual brother combination in sports... One brother gained over 1,000 yards rushing in the National Football League one season while his brother won the batting championship of the American League in baseball THAT SAME YEAR... Who was that brother combination?... In 1970 Ron Johnson gained 1,027 yards rushing for the New York Giants in the NFL and the same year, Ron's brother, Alex Johnson, led the American League in batting, as he hit .329 for the California Angels.

Alex Versfeld matched the entire white output with four goals, while teammate Chris Galiardo had three. Scoring one each were Peter Scott, Peter Versfeld and Ray Manyoky. Pete Johnson, Bryce Chase Jr., Stewart Smith and Bob Sweitzer all scored for White.

Navy stopped Red when Charlie Reeves found the net for three goals and Sam Reeves added a pair. Pete Schuler, Mike Southwick and Tom Gates all scored for Navy. Chris Goodyear with two goals was high for Red. Picking up single goals were Peter Versfeld, Ward Taggart, John Hamel and Alex Versfeld.

In another game, Green took the measure of Gold, 7-4. Todd Brethaupt, the former Princeton High standout, paced the victors with two goals while Chris Peters, Tim Sheehan, Pat Sheehan, and Jerry Stein also scored.

John Fischer, Phil Clippinger and Pete Larsen tallied for Gold. And so did Gold goalie, Jeff Olsson. After making a save, Olsson scored on a 80-yard gallop through the entire Green team.

NBA ROOKIES HERE
For N.J. Nets Camp. The New Jersey Nets will open up a 10-day rookie and free agent camp next Wednesday, July 27, at Jadwin Gymnasium on the campus of Princeton University. The camp will feature five days of workouts and then a series of games with rookies and free agents from the New York Knicks, Washington Bullets and the world champion Philadelphia 76ers, whose players are also working out at the Princeton athletic complex.

All ten of the Nets' selections in the recent NBA draft, including Princeton's Rich Simkus—have been invited to the camp along with Eddie Phillips and Bill Willoughby plus a group of free agents.

Two former New Jersey collegiate stars will be at the camp. Kevin Black, a forward from Rutgers University, was the Nets' selection on the ninth round. Former Princeton center Simkus was selected on the 10th round, and will return to his alma mater to attempt to make the jump to the NBA.

In Women's Softball, Mike's Tavern finished in first place at the end of the Princeton Women's Adult Slow Pitch regular season last week, but not before suffering a blemish on its previously spotless record.

Andy's Tavern, which had not defeated Mike's in more than four years, snapped Mike's 19-game winning streak with a come-from-behind, 13-7 win. Andy's finished in third place in the four-team league, behind Mike's and second place Conte's and ahead of the winless Army-Navy.

Home runs by Mike's Elizabeth Zingg, Sallie Toscano, and Pearce put Mike's back on top, 5-3. But then Andy's reclaimed the lead on hits by Fox, Susan Packer, Ann Dowling, Lisa Schmidt, and Debbie Wickenden.

Andy's put the game out of reach by scoring seven runs in the top of the seventh inning, with Wickenden's triple driving in the final runs.

Conte's Wins Two. Conte's easily defeated the Army-Navy store, 20-1, paced by Carol Ann Mazzella's home run and three hits each from Peggy Wood and Nancy Pesce. Conte's also knocked off Andy's, 6-2, with Wood hitting a home run and Pesce and Cynthia Lucullo both going 2-for-3.

Army-Navy fared better against Mike's, losing 15-4. Jill Bonin had an RBI single; Karen Piper and Karen Abrams added hits. Sally Strain, Nina Tocco, and Nancy Loeb scored for Army-Navy. Best 2-of-3 playoffs began this week at Community Park, with Andy's against Conte's and Mike's taking on Army-Navy.

NAUTILUS MOVES UP
In Men's Softball. After 10 weeks of being deadlocked with Mike's Tavern and Conte's, Princeton Nautilus claimed sole possession of first place in the Princeton Recreation Men's Softball League—thanks to the Buffalo Wings' upset victory over Mike's coupled with two more victories by Nautilus.

Nautilus trounced Army-Navy, 18-6, and then squeezed by Conte's, 9-5 in eight innings, to move into the league's top spot.

Army-Navy could play only three outfielders and Nautilus took advantage of the extra hole with five home runs. Dave Shillaber had two homers and four RBIs. Scott Porreca homered, drove in two runs, and scored twice. Mike Shillaber hit another home run and registered three RBIs. Keven Phox added a two-run blast. Brent Robinson, Jack Petrone, and Ken Bruvik had two hits each in support of winning pitcher Nort Parker.

Conte's jumped to an early lead against Nautilus with a five-run first inning and held a 5-1 advantage going into the last inning. But Nautilus Outing to Sesame Place. A boomed this year — Joyce trip to Sesame Place is on the Jones from the high school is scheduled for this Wednesday coaching. Ms. Clarkson and 55 kids signed up.

Every Friday, there is a movie in Community Park. Corn is in first place," she School. Rainy days, if there adds quickly, referring to ever are any, will be in CP Princeton's women's softball also. Kids have seen "Really team, "but lacrosse is really Rosie," "The Legend of big.

Sleepy Hollow," "The Legend of Paul Bunyan" and a film about the history of New Jersey.

"We got that one free from Public Service," Ms. Clarkson says.

Kids also got a free ride in the Forbes hot air balloon.

Now and then, Princeton Caterers comes around with free fruit, brownies, sand- wiches, potato chips.

And one day the kids climb aboard a bus for Waterloo Village with a group from the Senior Citizens Club. Wary at first, the passengers' two generations apart found they got along just fine.

Seniors to the Cape. Meanwhile, members of the Senior Citizens Club are buying film and sunglasses for a late September (26th-29th) trip to Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard. First, however, they'll take another bus ride, this time to Longwood Gardens on August 17.

Not all activities are bound- ed by age limits. The Summer Sounds concerts are tuned for teens, but last week when Laurie Altman and jazz were on the program, there were young adults and even what the sponsoring Arts Council calls "older people," listening to good, soft jazz.

Summer Sounds concerts, incidentally, are free. The Youth Fund has helped, sponsoring jointly with the Arts Council, but Summer Sounds could use about $200 more, so if a summer straw hat is passed around, be ready. Booker is Adam Spiegel, who auditions the bands and decides which ones will play.

You might like to compare the size of the audience that heard The Groceries earlier this summer — over a thousand — with the 24 people who drifted to Palmer Square ten years ago this summer for the first Summer Sounds concert.

A Home at Last. Since then, the concert has wandered around: Pardee Field (only one concert that year), Westminster Choir College campus. And now Community Park North, whose amphitheatre was built especially for youth concerts.

"It is tremendous the way those kids are, at Summer Sounds," Ms. Clarkson marvels. "Any other town, with a crowd that size you'd have fights, broken beer bottles... but here, they have a marvelous time. They dance on the macadam, walk around, sit on the berm, and there are no problems."

"One kid said to me, after last week's concert, 'I've never seen so many high-school kids at once in all my life — even at the high school!'"

Some in the audience may be in the new wrestling program initiated this year by Princeton High School coach Lee Merrill. Starting slow, the program now has 25 wrestlers.

Designed for boys in grades six through eight, and grades nine through college age, it will serve as a feeder for the high school's own program, besides giving boys a chance to learn, and to work out all summer.

Lacrosse, too. It's lacrosse summer on the adult playing fields.

"Women's lacrosse has Corn is in first place," she reports. "But softball fizzled. Of course, Sweet Jersey movie in Community Park. Corn is in first place," she School. Rainy days, if there adds quickly, referring to ever are any, will be in CP Princeton's women's softball also. Kids have seen "Really team, "but lacrosse is really Rosie," "The Legend of big.

"And there are eight men's lacrosse teams, with Hawley Waterman coaching. Last year, there were only six. Princeton is the only place in south-central New Jersey where there is lacrosse, so we even get men from shore communities."

Basketball is an informal, caterers comes around with non-structured program. Around 20 to 30 men gather in the evenings on the lighted courts near Community Park School, and maybe a dozen more at Grover Park.

Incidentally — or not so "incidentally," in budgetary terms — all these people pay to play. The only sport where that is not the case, is informal basketball.

A Shakespeare Summer. You pay to play Shakespeare, too. Veronica Brady, of the McCarter Theatre staff, auditioned over 100 boys and girls, ages 11 to 18, all of them eager to learn scansion and speak iambic pentameter.

"We could only take 35," Ms. Brady explains. "That's the same number as last year, because you need to make sure each one has a good part, with lines to say."

"For example, we have eight Ariels in this 'Tempest,' little girls age about 11 to 13, and all of them will be in each of the four performances, the Ariel lines being said back and forth by all of them."

"You've got to pay real attention, or lose the rhythm altogether."

Prospero will be female and there is only one of her — Andrea Smith — and she is 16.

Mostly Modern Dress. Except for a suggestion of capes how can you act Shakespeare without a cape? "The Tempest" will be in modern dress. Oh, yes, a fairy wing or two for the Ariels. They insisted.

Because Shakespeare is said to have had an island vaguely like Bermuda in mind, the Brady troupe has composed music reminiscent of that part of the world — calypso, reggae, and the like.

This original music will be played on sax, synthesizer, strings, flute, steel drum, guitar "and lots of cymbals and drums for the storm."

Crew members not only memorized Shakespeare and wrote music to fit, they also constructed a rocky cave, and dyed enough fabric to make a presentable blue-green ocean. Access to McCarter's costume collection was a help, too.

At the library, this summer, somebody is probably even reading Shakespeare.

"We have a Summer Reading Game, with a mystery theme and a big board you make moves on," explains children's librarian Dudley Carlson. "No winners: we're not big on prizes here. Some kids may read five big books over the summer, and somebody else reads 200 little books. Kids here are free to read what they want."

Apple Play. They may also play with the Apple computer. Monday nights from 6 to 9 and Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 1, one of the two Apples donated by Dow Jones, is moved into the children's department and those who sign up, are allowed half an hour at the Apple.

"You can learn the control keys, or play simple games," Ms. Carlson says. "The best is a math program which is a race, and you scoot across the screen..."

But first, you have to sign up for your half-hour. Call the library (924-9529) and be resigned to a wait of about two weeks — there is that much demand.

It's for anyone third grade through the eighth. You must have a library card. "We have a group of about two dozen high school volunteers who help kids with the Apple," Ms. Carlson says. They've just been wonder- full! I wouldn't be able even to answer the phone, if they couldn't be here to help with the kids' questions."

Free Films. Movies for everyone — of course. This Thursday, it will be the library's turn to show "Really Rosie," and on August 10, "Circus Town." Kids have already seen "Ben and Me" and, for pre-schoolers, "The Fisherman and His Wife."

Grown-ups may enjoy the Advent large-screen TV where "Waterbury Down" — that's the one about the rabbits — will be shown August 3 at 10 a.m. and again at noon. The big screen was a gift to the library.

And Much, Much More... And we haven't even mentioned the Physical Fitness Trail

Like women's lacrosse, at Community Park North, the videodisk circulation is "booming" at the library, reports Therese Crichtlow. When it's too hot to be out on the playing fields, you may take home "Annie," "Break- ing Away," "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "Play it Again, Sam," or Christopher Reeve's "Somewhere in Time."

Fee is $2 for 48 hours. Think of the chance for re-runs... Summer in Princeton... summer and something for everyone.

David Dodge Released By Mid-East Terrorists After Year in Captivity

A plea for privacy for himself and his family was one of the first public comments made by David S. Dodge after his release last week from a year of captivity by Middle East terrorists.

Mr. Dodge, whose Princeton home is in the Brookstone area, made the plea to reporters at Yale-New Haven hospital, where he went for two days of observations to determine his mental and physical health.

Physicians at the hospital said Mr. Dodge was suffering from the kind of malnutrition that results from a limited intake of fluids, but was otherwise in good health. He apparently had no lasting effects from the head blow inflicted by his kidnappers when he was seized last July 19 as he walked alone on the campus of American University in Beirut, Lebanon.

Mr. Dodge, acting president of American University, gave no details of his abduction or release. The kidnappers are thought to have been members of Amal, an arm of the Shiite Moslems in Lebanon who are pro-Iranian.

No details of his release were offered, either, although Mr. Dodge was apparently released through the good offices of the Syrian government.

"I would like to take this opportunity to express special gratitude to the Government of Syria, to his excellency President Hafez al-Assad and to his brother for their humanitarian efforts," he said in a statement to New Haven reporters.

Hospital staff said that Mr. Dodge was held first in Lebanon and then in Iran. The educator himself declined to discuss his captivity because, he said, "no useful purpose would be served."

Thursday's Storm A Royal Nuisance

As summer storms go, the one that thundered through Princeton last Thursday night just before 9 was not particularly forceful or devastating. But it proved to be a royal nuisance just the same at Township Police headquarters, at various residences that were without power for several hours, and at Parkside Drive, where a half dozen homeowners were not only without power but were cut off from the rest of the world for more than three days because of telephone problems.

At Township Hall, police began getting the usual reports of burglar

University to Shift Campus Entrance Near Nassau Presbyterian Church

A traditional gateway into Princeton University's campus will be shifted in the interests of better traffic flow.

It is the gateway next to Nassau Presbyterian Church, directly opposite Palmer Square West. The University will move it to the other side of the church — between the church and Maclean House — and turn the present entrance-exit into access and parking for the church.

The proposal will be discussed at next Tuesday's August meeting of the Planning Board, to be held at 7:30 in the Valley Road building.

In the process, the University will remove the present guard station and mark out the area for about 16 parking spaces, creating a barrier of plantings between the new parking area and the campus. There will still be access to Nassau Street for those who use the church parking spaces.

On the other side of the church, iron fences, curbs and some plantings and

Air Rights Ordinance Loses Its First Round, But Those in Favor Will Try Again August 4

The ordinance granting air rights over Palmer Square East to Collins Development for $120,000 will be introduced again by Borough Council at its August 4 agenda session, following a 3-2 defeat of the same ordinance on first reading last Wednesday. If the re-introduction is successful, public hearing will be Tuesday, September 13.

"It was a calculated risk and we lost," stated Mayor Robert W. Cawley.

He was referring to the absence — on vacation — of Council member Richard Woodbridge, who would presumably have voted in favor of the ordinance. It is expected that Mr. Woodbridge will be back on August 4 and will vote "yes." This would create a 3-3 tie, which Mayor Cawley would then break with his own affirmative vote.

Last Wednesday's majority consisted of Robert McChesney, Peter Bearse and Joseph Blanc. Barbara Hill and Richard Macgill voted in favor of introducing the ordinance.

In addition, Council heard from opponent Gerald Boswell, 46 Murray Place, who has stated that he may sue.

The following night, the Planning Board was scheduled to adopt the so-called "findings of fact" relating to the board's earlier approval, with conditions, of Collins' plans for expanding the Nassau Inn. Part of those plans include an addition on Palmer Square East, connected to the present Inn by a bridge over the street. It is this bridge that requires use of the Borough-owned air-rights.

But once again, the board was faced with quorum problems — and with Thursday night's storm.

Lights went out in the Valley Road meeting room at 8:50. Emergency lights remained in the hall and at the rear of the room, and they were enough for the board to get through two concept reviews, but when the agenda came around to the Collins, the board found that it was not only in the dark, it was short two members.

Once before this summer, on June 16, the board lacked a quorum when Collins was on the agenda. At both meetings, one of the absent members was John VanPlantinga.

Discussing his absence this time, he explained that Planning Board administrator Pearl Pillon sends out a list one month in advance of a meeting, asking who will be present.

According to Mrs. Pillon, Mr. VanPlantinga had indicated that he would be present, but did not appear. He said he had indeed thought he could attend, but then, he added, "I was no longer available." He said he hadn't known the board had a quorum problem, and "had no idea the findings of fact were on the agenda."

The board will now take up those findings at next Tuesday's regular meeting. Adoption is significant because opponents must wait for publication of the adoption before they can file an appeal. They have ten days after publication in which to file.

"We don't regard either of these events as a setback," said Gary Green, a Collins vice-president and manager of the Palmer Square project. "We're guardedly optimistic. No, we couldn't conceive of the Inn without the bridge. We've had good advice from our counsel, or we wouldn't have come this far."

Armed Robbery Nets $154 on Wiggins St.

The victim, a 22-year-old June graduate of Princeton University, lives on Wither-spoon Street and works as a paralegal at a law firm in New York, but has his sights set on becoming a missionary and going to Africa.

Last Thursday night, as he walked down Wiggins Street near Princeton Cemetery at about 10:30 p.m., he gained a little insight into the urban jungle.

Two men approached him, one from the front and one from the back. The one in front brandished a handgun, a dark-colored revolver with a barrel about six inches long. The one in the back reached into his pants pocket and took his wallet.

Total loss: $154. The two
